The next level of interpretation our DUBAI RSI Hub for any languages

Traditionally, simultaneous interpretation was only possible when using conventional equipment at the conference venue and the physical presence of the interpreters. With the advance of technology, we can now offer an alternative – at our new Vienna hub we use our professional BOSCH SI equipment and connect it with the world.

Interpreters no longer need to travel and be present at the conference location. At the same time, by using our professional BOSCH SI equipment, they can offer their services at professional working conditions.
